Got Something To Say?

Theatre Confessions:

Or

Ranking the Legally Blonde Cast Album

Omigod You Guys - 8/10, Such a strong opening number and reminds you of Perfect Day by Hoku, the opening song for the movie.

Serious - 9.5/10, The wordplay and the leading on always gets me with this song. The music always throws you off in the best way as well. What You Want - 10/10, One of my favorite songs overall in the show, especially the Harvard Admissions Office portion

The Harvard Variations - 7/10, If you say at least one of the intros is not stuck in your brain, you're lying. I'm personally an Enid girlie with this one.

Blood in the Water - 6/10, I personally am not a fan but it is still catchy, and I'll find myself humming it.

Positive - 9/10, Any Delta Nu song is automatically a minimum 8/10 for me. This one is literally me during a menty b.

Ireland - 10/10, This song will always hold a special place in my heart, it used to be my old audition song and will forever be remembered as such.

Ireland (Reprise) - 8/10, this is unregretfully on my workout playlist

Serious (Reprise) - 10/10, literally mumble this song while doing mundane tasks for no reason.

Chip on My Shoulder - 20/10, I need Emmett Forrest to help me clean out my room like yesterday

So Much Better - 8/10, THE RIFF??? How obnoxious I'll be when I do anything

Whipped into Shape - 7.8/10, my current vocal stim.

Take It Like a Man - 7/10, great background music, just can't remember the lyrics for the life of me

Bend and Snap - 9/10, such an iconic song for an iconic moment There! Right There! - 10/10, If you don't sing this song when it comes on, you need to re-evaluate some choices

Legally Blonde - 5/10, I used to skip this song, but after seeing it live, I sob like a baby every time

Legally Blonde Remix - 7/10, So catchy, just don't listen often.

Find My Way/Finale - 8.5/10, I love the classic 2000s movie recap and the fact that we see a proposal unlike the original.

The Wacky Adventures of Glumbus!

Issue 1: Glumbus Begins

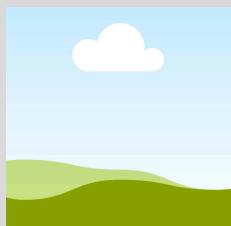

About this Comic Strip

Glumbus is our mascot. He was born of humble origins, sewn together from two tiny teddy bears who ruthlessly had their heads separated from their bodies by last year's president, Emma Ambrose. Since then, he has accompanied us on all sorts of adventures. From International Thespian Festival, to Disneyland, to Spain, Glumbus has been with us through it all. He is full of luck and magic. Everything that goes unreasonably well, we blame on him.

The Tech Corner

Run By: Dominick Steinmetz

The Week's Topic Puffs Tech

Written By: Dominick Steinmetz

Puffs tech is going to be one of the most challenging shows of all. With over 200 sound and lighting cues. We're also trying to incorporate projections too! Right now, we are currently working on all of our sound cues. We have all the cues for the two act version, but since that is different from what we're doing we will have to go in and meticulously find all sounds that do not belong. Thank goodness Mrs. Slots will be helping us out with that.

Another factor that comes along with tech is cost. Theater tech isn't just sound, but props, costumes, and set as well. We will need lots of funding for this performance, but it will be a great one. Helping fundraise for puffs would mean so much to our theater.

This year we will also be trying something new with our lighting system. Lights for this show will be attempted on QLab! Using a very fancy adapter, we will be able to connect our lights to the MacBook and run it through QLab. We have used QLab for lots of past shows, but mainly for sound. Last year we invested in a QLab license which allowed us to do more than ever in QLab.

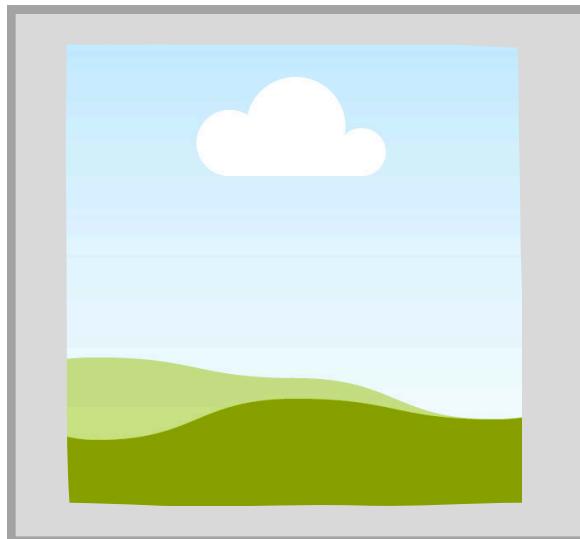

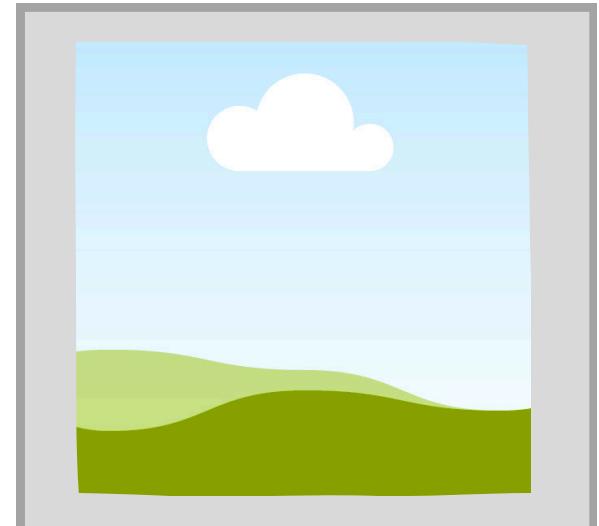

We are now using QLab for sound, projections, and lighting! This is an amazing advancement in our theater program to have such a versatile software that allows us to do possibly anything.

This concludes the first Tech Corner article ever on this newsletter. If you have any questions or would like to suggest future article ideas, please reach out to me at my student email!
